The reason for this is twofold. Firstly, the screening theatres are intended for audiences of a certain size. The manager will switch to a larger theatre if necessary. Secondly, it gives an indication of how popular or otherwise a film might be. Which helps me with future selections!

Guests

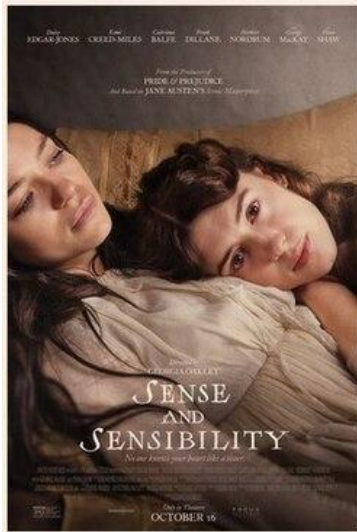

You may bring guests, with no restriction on numbers. There is disabled access.

Hot Drinks

They are available and start at £2.99. Please be aware that should the cinema be busy it will potentially delay others. With large numbers queuing this is inevitable. Please be patient.

The cinema is happy for you to bring your own hot drink with you, but you do so at your own risk. This is a concession to ease the situation. However, food not purchased at the cinema is not permitted.

Sense and Sensibility

Based on Jane Austen's 1811 novel, the 2026 Sense and Sensibility adaptation follows Elinor and Marianne Dashwood as they face financial ruin after their father's death and navigate contrasting romantic entanglements. We see Elinor with Edward Ferrars and Marianne with John Willoughby all the time confronting societal expectations in Georgian/Regency-era England.

The contrasting emotional approaches of the two sisters; Elinor's "sense" vs. Marianne's "sensibility"—drive the narrative as both confront heartbreak, social pressures, and the need for financial security. The film stars Daisy Edgar-Jones, Esmé Creed-Miles and Fiona Shaw
